THE NATION MOURNS AN HONORED SON

GENERAL SORROW CAUSED BY THE DEATH OF HANNA

Every City In the Country Grieved by the Sad
Announcement From Washington
Last Night.

LISBON, HIS BIRTHPLACE, IS IN MOURNING

The news of Senator Hanna's death at Washington at 6:40 last evening, reached this city about 7 o'clock and quickly spread. Although the end had been expected all day, the sad announcement, when it did come, came as a shock.

Senator Hanna had hosts of warm friends and hearty supporters in this section of Ohio. Columbiana county was his birthplace, and her people have been among his most ardent admirers and adherents during his brilliant public career.

The progress of the senator's fatal illness was watched with great anxiety by his Columbiana county friends—with what anxiety it would be difficult for anyone outside of a newspaper office to form an idea. Not a day has passed since Mr. Hanna's illness was reported serious that there have not been frequent telephone calls, not only from the city, but from distant points in the county, upon the News Review, for information concerning his case. Numerous rumors of his death were spread about on many days, causing great excitement, and adding greatly to the zest for definite information.

This has been the case in every city and town in the country. In the larger cities especially every bulletin board has been scanned with eagerness for news of the distinguished patient.

Universal sorrow is felt. The same story that comes from Washington and Columbus might be truthfully repeated without variation from every city and town in the country. From Lisbon comes this word:

"News of the death of Senator M. A. Hanna was received with great sorrow in Lisbon, his birthplace, where he had many friends and acquaintances. His picture has been generally displayed in mourning here today. Further public expression of grief will be made at the time of his funeral. Senator Hanna's last visit to Lisbon was last June when he was the guest of honor and one of the principal speakers at the centennial. It is a matter of regret that his speech on that occasion was not taken down verbatim and preserved."

The senator had been ill for over two months. The illness recently culminated in typhoid fever, the ravages of which his weakened system were unable to withstand. When the end came all the members of the family except Mrs. Hanna, the senator's wife, and Mr. and Mrs. Dan Hanna were in the room. Mrs. Hanna had left the room only a few minutes before.

An account of the senator's last hours, together with an interesting sketch of his life, is given by the Associated Press as follows:

Surles, however, until the expiration of three years, and there is no cause for hurry.

It is not known just when Rev. Edward M. McMillin, the newly appointed pastor of the church, will arrive with his family from Adrian, Mich., to take possession of the parsonage, but it will not be long. Rev. Dr. McMillin will reach the city Saturday with his wife, and on Sunday will preach both morning and evening. He will then return home and probably remove his family here immediately after.

Will Be Ready For the Occupancy of Pastor McMillin and Family
When They Come.

The W. H. Surles homestead on Third street has been formally turned over to the trustees of the First Presbyterian church, they having paid $1,000 to Mr. Surles to tie up the negotiation. The total amount to be paid is $8,500, and already nearly $6,000 of that amount has been subscribed. All of it is not to be turned over to Mr.

EAST END BOY DROWNED BREAKING THROUGH ICE

Willie Greer, Aged 14, Meets a Tragic Death
While Engaged in Fishing on Little Beaver Creek.

With none near to hear his cries or lend him help in his fight for life, Willie Greer, aged 14, sank to his death in the icy waters of Little Beaver creek late yesterday afternoon. The body was recovered not more than an hour later, but all efforts to restore life were futile. The body was taken to the home of the parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Greer, of Michigan avenue, East End, where the members of the family are almost prostrated with grief.

As Greer was alone when he fell into the icy stream just how the tragedy occurred will perhaps never be known. The lad left his home shortly before noon to go for fish in the creek. Another fisherman, Mike Stillwell, was with him for a time, but growing very cold, left for home. The boy concluded to return home, taking an opposite direction. It is supposed that he stopped at the point where his body was found and started to fish again and in walking over the ice that lined the shore came upon a spot that would not bear his weight and went through.

Not long after Winkle Campbell and Edward Elkins discovered the boy's hat and gig and identified them. They were soon joined by Perry Walker and Charles Bowers, two of the lad's companions, and fearing that Greer had fallen into the stream began the search for the body. They soon found it and brought it to shore by means of a grapping hook.

The body was frozen stiff, but knowing that it could have been in the water but a short time they tried every means known to them to restore life. Later the body was taken to the parents' home, the mother swooning when she realized what had happened.

The lad was employed at an East End pottery plant and was very highly thought of by his employers and shopmates. The family formerly lived in Wheeling and have been residents of the city only about three months.

The funeral will take place from the home tomorrow afternoon at 3:30. Rev. Albert E. Faust, of the Free Methodist church, will officiate. The interment will be in Riverview cemetery. [Wheeling papers are requested to copy.]

MARCUS ALONZO HANNA

TERRIFIED BY A RABID DOG STRICKEN ON THE STREET

Elias SherwoodAppealed Frantically to the Police For Protection.

Mrs. Mattie McCarron Expired
Most Unexpectedly at New Castle.

THE ANIMAL DISPATCHED

STRICKEN ON THE STREET

Terrified by the wild actions of his dog, it having attacked him while suffering with rabies, Elias Sherwood, of Fifth street, rushed down to the city hall this morning and appealed to Officer Dawson for protection. The officer readily agreed to go and dispatch the animal and did so, but had a severe struggle in accomplishing the deed.

The dog is of the fox terrier breed and was raised in the kennels of H. Homer Knowles, consequently being of considerable value. It had been the pet of the Sherwood home for a long time and when Mr. Sherwood arose this morning and discovered the animal to be in the throes of hydrophobia he was greatly shocked. He could not believe the dog was really the victim of rabies at first and headed it but little for a time, but while he was fending off the animal with a broom, it bit him in the mouth viciously attacking him, he was convinced.

Mrs. McCarron was stricken with apoplexy while on her way from her home to a grocery store, at which she traded. She was carried into a house nearby and messages were hastily dispatched to her husband and physicians. Death resulted, however, before medical aid reached her.

Mrs. McCarron was the daughter of Mrs. Mary McKeever and spent most of her life here. Several months ago her husband accepted a situation at New Castle and a week ago the family moved there. Besides the husband and one child, George, aged 10 years, she was survived by her mother, Mrs. Mary McKeever, and the following brothers and sisters: Mrs. Fred Koch, Mrs. Jason Orr and Dan, Will and John McKeever.

Mrs. McCarron was a member of St. Aloysius' church and was well known and highly respected throughout the city.

The officer was undetermined for a short time as to how he should attack the dog and allowed it to spend the greater part of its strength before he attempted the job. When the animal became somewhat weakened the officer with his revolver ready for quick action approached it and with deliberate aim sent a bullet crashing through its brain.

It is seldom that a dog ever shows symptoms of hydrophobia at this time of the year, and the officer is prone to disbelieve that it was mad, but Sherwood cannot be so convinced and considers himself and wife fortunate in escaping a bite.

Washington, February 16.—(Special)—W. Cameron Forbes, of Boston, has accepted the appointment of Philippine commissioner, to succeed General Luke Wright.

SENTIMENT STRONG FOR GOOD ROADS

Business and Professional Men Are Interested in the Concerted Movement.

TEMPERANCE COMMITTEE

Will Meet Tonight and a Spirited Time is Expected—Considerable Other News of Keen Interest From the State House at Columbus.

Columbus, Feb. 16.—(Special)—The first good roads convention under the auspices of the state was held yesterday afternoon in the hall of the house of representatives.

From all parts of the state are present men who are interested in the good roads movement—county commissioners, township trustees, city and village officials, business and professional men and farmers. Among the speakers are Hon. Martin Dodge, who is at the head of the government good roads movement bureau; General Nelson A. Miles, United States Senator Latimer, of South Carolina, Hon. Samuel Hill, of Seattle, and others.

As a result of this convention it is confidently expected that the good roads movement will not only be given a wonderful impetus in Ohio, but something in the way of state legislation will result. It is not entirely improbable that committee will be appointed by the convention to draft a good roads bill from the several bills already introduced in the general assembly, and also embodying the suggestions already expressed by the experts in their convention speeches. It is pointed out by good roads enthusiasts that a bill drawn up to fit the needs of the state and its finances would be sure to pass.

On Tuesday evening the house committee will give another hearing on the Brannock local ward option bill, this time the opponents of the bill being especially invited to present their side of the case. At the former hearings on this bill the advocates of it were given the preference, though opponents would have been given a chance to talk if they had asked the privilege.

It is announced there will be a number of speakers at these meetings for the liquor interests. Joe Miller, the manager of the saloon people's side, says he will have a hundred people at least to speak for the opponents of the bill. He says there will be no lawyers brought in to speak for them, but those who talk will be simple citizens and taxpayers who volunteer to come and speak and who will be simply expressing their sentiments. It has been generally supposed that there would be no doubt about the house committee making a report recommending the passage of the bill, but there seems to be some question about it now.

The house committee on schools will go right along this week with the hearings on the school code before it, and the senate committee on schools will probably have some open meetings on the Harrison code now before it. C. E. Bonebrake calls attention to the fact that while so much is being said about the Carr code making large boards of education, it will reduce the number in every city except in only Toledo and Cleveland.

The comparative fire table of business transacted in Ohio during 1903 by the stock and mutual fire companies, reporting to the Ohio insurance company department, was issued yesterday, showing an aggregate fire loss in Ohio in 1903 of $6,468,125.10.

A recapitulation of all the companies noted above shows risks written in Ohio of $36,554,107; premiums received, $11308,974.39; losses paid, $6,174,788.70; losses incurred, $6,148,218.88; ratio of losses incurred to premiums received being 54.37 per cent, compared with 50.64 per cent in 1902.

Cameron Elected.

Columbus, February 16.—(Special)—Hon. I. B. Cameron, of Lisbon, has been elected secretary and treasurer of the Columbus Savings & Trust company of this city, one of the largest banking concerns in central Ohio. He has been a director of the bank since its reorganization as a trust company in 1901.

The Russian Second Class Ship Boyarin Reported to Have Been Destroyed With All on Board.

CZAR'S TROOPS HURRIED TO PORT ARTHUR

St. Petersburg, February 16.—(Special)—The Russian second-class cruiser Boyarin has been blown up by a mine at Port Arthur in the same manner as the Russian transport Yenisei. The Boyarin had on board 197 officers and men, and all are believed to have been lost.

Port Arthur, February 16.—(Special)—Six thousand Russian troops have arrived at Harbin. The Manchurian train is running regularly, bringing supplies from Siberia. The Russian fleet is reported moving in the direction in of southern Japan with the intention of bombarding ports. The German cruiser Hanse, with German refugees on board, has been fired on by Japanese warships.

Berlin, February 16.—(Special)—Kurino, the Japanese minister who left St. Petersburg at the outbreak of hostilities, says the war is due to the action of Admiral Alexieff, whose ostentatious preparations for hostilities made the conflict inevitable. Kurino claims that Alexieff never delivered the last note of the Russian government, which did not want war and so stated in that document.

St. Petersburg, February 16.—(Special)—The foreign office says that the secretary has a proposition to limit the area of war operations which is considered practicable. Viceroy Alexieff is being consulted and a reply will soon be forthcoming.

Seoul, February 16.—(Special)—The French cruiser Pascal is being held by the Japanese at Chemulpo, owing to objections raised as to the disposition of Russian refugees.

RUSSIAN SOLDIERS FROZEN TO DEATH

VAN SPENCE, CRAZED BY DRINK,

St. Petersburg, February 16.—(Special)—Six hundred Russian soldiers were frozen to death while marching across Lake Haukal, eastern Siberia.

The detachment lost their way in a storm.

JOHN F. CALDWELL HAS ASSIGNED

East Liverpool Business Man Turns Over His Property For Creditors' Benefit.

Lisbon, February 16.—(Special)—John F. Caldwell, of East Liverpool, has filed a deed of assignment in probate court here to H. E. Grosshans. For the benefit of his creditors Mr. Caldwell turns over to the assignee $400 worth of personal property consisting of merchandise, fixtures, bank accounts, etc.

The amount of his liabilities is not known. Mr. Grosshans has qualified as assignee under bond of $800. Caldwell is an East End restaurant man.

Will Fight the Case.

Fred Kourier, who was arrested on Sunday morning on a charge of keeping his saloon open on Sunday, has decided to fight the case. He will have the case tried at Lisbon.

AN ATTEMPT TO SEIZE SURVEYOR KELLY'S JOB

But For Prompt Action the East Liverpool Man
Might Have Lost His County Position.

Lisbon, February 16.—(Special)—A peculiar complication involving the right of County Surveyor J. C. Kelly, of East Liverpool, to hold his office to which he was elected last fall, was settled yesterday afternoon by the county commissioners, who recognized Mr. Kelly as having been duly elected, and approved his bond of $2,000.

Meanwhile it became known that Mr. Kelly had not qualified, and Herman Armstrong, of Lisbon, entered his name with Secretary Connell, of the county committee, last Saturday, as a candidate for the Republican nomination to fill out the unexpired term of J. C. Kelly, as county surveyor. The action of the county commissioners yesterday, however, leaves no vacancy.

THE BOND MONEY HAS BEEN RECEIVED

Auditor Davidson Gets $35,000 With Which to Replenish the City Treasury.

Auditor Davidson yesterday received $35,000 from the Mansfield Savings company, the banking institution that bought the Pennsylvania Avenue Improvement bonds. A peculiar condition connected with the sale is that the money was received by the official without his having sent the purchasers the bonds.

It is seldom that a dog ever shows symptoms of hydrophobia at this time of the year, and the officer is prone to disbelieve that it was mad, but Sherwood cannot be so convinced and considers himself and wife fortunate in escaping a bite.

TRIED TO WIPE OUT AN ENTIRE FAMILY

VAN SPENCE, CRAZED BY DRINK, CAUSES CONSTITUTION.

The Police Are Now Trying to Run Him Down For a Series Of Misdeeds.

Crazed by a week of dissipation, Van Spence, of the East End, made a desperate attempt to annihilate the family of Mrs. Lida Reed, with whom he boards, and this morning upon meeting the woman on Second street, made a vicious assault on her. A warrant was issued for his arrest soon after, and the officers started out this afternoon to run the man down.

About a week ago he commenced a periodical jag, and by yesterday he was raving. He went to his boarding house, flourished a revolver and fired it several times, scaring the members of the family into hysterics. After carrying on in a wild west manner for some time, he went to his barber shop and commenced the same actions. This morning he continued it, and attacked Mrs. Reed without the least provocation.

Will Fight the Case. Fred Koprber, who was arrested on Sunday morning on a charge of keeping his saloon open on Sunday, has decided to fight the case. He will have the case tried at Lisbon.

Sink Eight Russian Ships in Another Engagement Near Port Arthur.

TEN ARE REPORTED CAPTURED

Czar's Officers Were Ashore and Lookouts Were Caught Napping—Battle on North Bank of Yalu River Reported From Russian Sources.

London, Feb. 16.—The Tientsin correspondent of the Star says the reports of another Japanese victory at Port Arthur have been confirmed.

The dispatch states that eight Russian vessels are sunk and ten captured, but this latter statement is unofficial.

The correspondent adds that the Russian officers were again caught napping, as all the naval officers were ashore when the attack began.

The Paris correspondent of the Central News wires that news from a Russian source states that a battle between Russian and Japanese forces is being fought on the northern bank of the Yalu river, where the Russian land forces are concentrated.

A concerted attempt by Japanese land and sea forces to invest Port Arthur, the Russian stronghold of the far east and their main base of supplies, is imminent. All dispatches from the seat of hostilities unite in indicating that such is the objective of Japanese war managers and news of the first shot in this move is momentarily expected.

Japanese Plans Complete.

The plans for the accomplishment of this feat, which would mean almost irreparable disaster to Russia and a glorious victory for Japanese arms, appear to have been long considered and carefully worked out. Word from Chefoo, China, has it that Admiral Togo, in charge of the Japanese naval forces in the Yellow sea, is still in the neighborhood of Port Arthur, and that he is waiting only for the landing of troops to begin the bombardment of the city.

The Japanese troops are being defected in large numbers toward this point, and it is evident that here will come the next hard tussle of the campaign. A Japanese attack on Vladivostok is imminent.

A correspondent of the Daily Mail who witnessed the engagement off Port Arthur confirms his previous accounts of the fight, and asserts again that one Japanese torpedo boat was sunk and another deserted by its crew in a sinking condition and subsequently captured by the Russians. He says also that the Japanese lost one battleship and had one cruiser put out of action, and that the colonel of the Fifteenth Russian regiment was killed by a shell during the bombardment.

Optimism in Tokio.

Tokio, Feb. 16.—It is unknown whether the Russian squadron returned to Vladivostok or effected a passage into the Pacific. An unverified report says a Russian warship was seen off Maizura naval station. The Japanese are not specially concerned over the naval situation as they feel confident that they will soon dominate the sea.

There is no fear of the Russians intercepting the Kagara and the Niasin or effecting a junction with the Port Arthur squadron. The Russians possess no naval bases except those at Port Arthur and Vladivostok, and the latter may freeze up and bar the retreat of the squadron.

Despite Russian assurances minimizing the damage sustained by Admiral Togo's attack last Tuesday at Port Arthur, the Japanese are certain that the Port Arthur fleet was severely crippled. Admiral Togo's fleet was not seriously damaged and was capable of fighting another battle immediately afterward. The battleship Fiji was the most seriously damaged. Withdrawals for repairs from the Japanese fleet will not materially reduce its fighting strength.

300,000 Japs Ready to Fight.

The date of the forward movement of the main body of the Japanese army has not been disclosed, but it probably will be deferred until after the completion of naval operations. The publication of the numbers of soldiers at points of mobilization is still forbidden. The mobilization is progressing with surprising celerity and without confusion. The staff shows a remarkable mastery of details. The main railways are cancelling or curtailing schedules and devoting every energy to facilitate the movement of troops. The reserves are assembling and occupying the garrisons vacated by the regulars and this movement is progressing with the precision of a drilled army. All are immensely eager to take the field.

Subscriptions have been opened for the first 100,000,000 yen war bonds. The subscriptions will close March 10. It is anticipated that the issue will be over subscribed many times. The country is preparing for a long war and seems capable of sustaining it financially for two years. She possesses vast military and naval stores and excellent home credit. Her soldiers and sailors are ready to give their services free if necessary.

AMONG THE POTTERIES AND ALLIED INDUSTRIES

MEXICAN POTTERY.

Guadalupe, Mexico, has always been noted for its pottery. This is not of nearly so fine a grade as that of Guadalajara, but it is truly characteristic of Mexico. In very early Aztec times Guadalupe was one of the famous shrines, for there was worshiped the Mother of Gods and Men and the Protectress of the Human Race. The early Catholic missionaries, unable to convert the Indians from their worship of the heathen goddess, gave a new name to the shrine and called it that of Our Lady of Guadalupe (the Mother of Christ), and the Indians went on paying their adorations to the shrine. The virgin continued to be the protectress of the Mexican people as she had been in the past, and today she is the patron saint of Mexico.

Around this shrine has grown up a class of religious pottery which is unique in design and very interesting. Most of the pottery has the picture of the virgin, surrounded by roses, which figure in the legend of the miraculous conversion of the Indians from the heathen to the Christian faith. Often, too, this pottery has the curious fantastic designs, meaningless now, but a reflex of the Aztec pottery. This pottery is made in Cuatitlan, a village some 25 miles away.

Guadalupe pottery differs from Guadalajara in that it is all hard-baked and glazed. The decoration is generally in raised work. The colors are also different, as they are generally of a more somber hue, being black, dark green or dark brown.

CONTRACT LET.

Messrs. J. R. Rost and A. S. Hughes, both of Columbus, manager and superintendent respectively of the Bell Pottery company, of that city, were visitors in this city last week and placed the contract for the equipment of their new pottery with the Patterson Foundry & Machine company. Hill & Wallace, also of this city, secured the contract for the erection of their kilns. They will have a modern 12-kiln pottery with enough floor space for 12 more kilns should they desire them later on.

RHEUMATISM

AFTER EVERYTHING ELSE KNOWN TO MEDICINE HAD FAILED

THE LIFE PLANT CO., CITY:

Gentlemen—I am a druggist by profession, and was in the drug business for a number of years, but am now Secretary and Treasurer of the Carnahan Stamping and Enameling Company, at Canton, Ohio. I contracted the rheumatism in my feet. It was so bad at times that I could scarcely walk, would have to crawl on my hands and knees to get around at times. I took medicine of all kinds, nearly everything that I can imagine that would cure rheumatism, but nothing would do. I even sent to Germany for medicine that was especially recommended for Rheumatism. It was so expensive, it cost me while taking it, 85 cts. per day. I also went to Mount Clemens and took the ocean baths, but nothing gave me relief. I also sent for Dr. Clegg, who is a well known physician, and he prescribed a special medicine, but nothing would do. When a friend of mine mentioned LIFE PLANT in February last, before I had taken three bottles I was so skeptical of it that I did not believe it would do any good. I hesitated to say that I really believed that LIFE PLANT is the best medicine for rheumatism that was ever made, as it did for me what nothing else could do. Any one that is troubled with rheumatism, I would be pleased to have them write me, and I will give them all the references that they want, as I can refer them to hundreds of people who know me and know also how I suffered in the last four years, and am now perfectly well, and it was LIFE PLANT that cured me.

Very truly, MILLARD F. TAYLOR.

The above is only one of ten thousand Testimonials to the wonderful curative powers of Life Plant on file in the offices of the Life Plant Company.

I contracted the rheumatism in my feet. It was so bad at times that I could scarcely walk, would have fallen on my hands and knees, and could scarcely get up again. I had to give up my business, and I had to leave my store, which was about everything that is mentioned in the pharmacopeia. I even sent to Germany for medicine that was especially recommended for Rheumatism. It was very expensive, it cost me while taking it, 85c per day. I also went to Monte Carlo, and took the ocean baths, but nothing gave me relief. I was also at Atlantic City and took the ocean baths, but nothing gave me relief. I am now nearly everything that I saw advertised to cure rheumatism and gave each a fair trial but got no relief. When a friend of mine mentioned LIFE PLANT, I had taken so many different kinds of medicine that I did not have faith in any of them, but to try it I went to see the druggist who sold it. He told me to take it three times a day, and I had taken three bottles. Before I had taken three bottles

A LITTLE TALK TO TIRED PEOPLE

If you live a confined life; if you are kept indoors and can get no outdoor work and exercise;—if you experience symptoms of general weakness, forgetfulness, lassitude, sleeplessness, irritability, lack of concentration, loss of appetite, pain in small of the back—there is no question about it, you have some form of catarrh—some inflammation of the mucous membrane.

Read what this well-known man, Alderman Peter A. Wendling, member of the City Council from the 29th Ward of the City of Chicago, says about it:

"Last spring, after I had completed my canvass for election to the City Council, I felt worn out and out of sorts. I could not determine any particular seat of my ailment. I was able to attend to my duties, but any great effort distressed me and I lost considerably in weight. As I had enjoyed uniformly good health I was not greatly alarmed and felt that my trouble would soon wear itself out."

"Finally I consulted a physician and his diagnosis was that I was suffering from incipient intestinal catarrh. He advised me to take a course of treatment at one of the celebrated medicinal springs. I was inclined to follow his advice but found it difficult to get away from my public and private business. While I was hesitating what to do, one of my political friends advised me to try Mucu-Tone. He told me that it had cured his wife and he said, 'Alderman, it will cure you.'

"Well, he was right. I think I took four or five bottles during the course of a month, with the result that I was entirely free from pain and had recovered my normal energy and buoyancy. I got back my old weight, and when any of my friends commented on my improved appearance I told them it was all due to Mucu-Tone."

Peter A. Wendling
Alderman 29th Ward, Chicago."

Alderman Wendling is one of the most popular members of the Chicago City Council. His worth as a man and a legislator is best evidenced by the fact that he is the first republican to be elected from the rock-ribbed, democratic stronghold, the famous Stock Yards district of Chicago. Certainly such evidence as his must convince even the most skeptical.

Rexall Mucu-Tone cures all catarrhal conditions by relieving the congestion of the mucous membranes. It works through the blood, thus reaching the affected membranes wherever they may be located, driving out the poisons and allaying the inflammation. In addition to this it is a powerful nutritive tonic which revitalizes the blood, quiets the strained nerves and builds up the body.

Give Mucu-Tone a trial. If you don't feel better after the first few doses you can stop taking it and we will refund your money.

EAST END BUILDING BOOM FOR EAST END

BETTER PROSPECTS NOW THAN FOR SEVERAL YEARS.

Contracts Are Being Made And Active Work Will Commence With Open Weather.

The East End will have a full share of the promised development in the way of real estate operations and new buildings. In no section of the city is there more to attract those who are seeking good locations on which to build homes, and although a month or more must elapse before the weather conditions will permit of active building operations, several contracts have already been let and others will be completed within the next few days.

Secretary Walter C. Supplee, of the Federal Building & Loan company, who is also an extensive dealer in real estate, stated this morning that the inquiries for East End properties are more numerous now than at any time in the past two or three years. Mr. Supplee, upon resuming his duties after an illness of three weeks, found that there is soon to be a great activity in building operations.

"There is not one reason why there should not be a great development in the East End this summer," said Mr. Supplee to a News Review reporter this morning. "The building and loan associations are better prepared than ever before to advance money for building and the money market all over the country is better. Last year the uncertainty in regard to the scale of the pottery operatives and the troubles in the building trades retarded building until late in the summer. This year none of these troubles will be encountered."

Among the many contracts for residence properties recently made is that of C. E. Haines, who will build in the Midway Land company's first addition, Harry Harris, of St. George street, has the contract. Negotiations are on for the erection of a number of houses in that addition.

C. H. Salyers, formerly a contractor in the East End, has written that he intends to return as soon as he can find a suitable dwelling house. He will build a number of houses as soon as the weather permits.

A large number of friends of the deceased attended the services over the remains of the young wife and mother. The remains were laid to rest in Woodland cemetery.

C. A. Sims & Co., have completed their work in Salineville on the C. & P. double track. There is still much work to be done between here and Irondale. Nearly all the rails have been laid for the double track, but it still remains to ballast the track.

Buying Coal Lands.

William Finney, formerly of the East End, who moved to a farm near Frankfort Springs a short time ago, was in town this morning and states that the agents of the proposed Jones & Laughlin, or B. & O. branch line town the Little Beaver, are active in buying coal lands in his neighborhood, he mineral under several farms having been sold recently, the prevailing price being $18 an acre. Mr. Finney has not yet sold.

Offers for the Patent.

Since the explosive publication in the News Review of the invention recently perfected by Messrs. J. L. Fulton and Ira Chamberlain they have received several offers to sell it outright. The invention, it will be remembered, is a gas saving furnace that can be made at a very small cost. The offers have been refused.

No Hope for Mrs. Finley.

Mrs. William Finley, of St. George street, mention of whose critical illness from pneumonia has been made in this column, was thought to be dying at noon today. The children are at her bedside. The attending physicians have little hope of her recovery.

EAST END AFFAIRS.

Harry Hanley will accept a position at the Cameron pottery.

W. D. Hopkins, of Mulberry street, is spending a few days with his parents at Shawnee.

Miss Edith Harsha entertained a number of her friends last night at her home on Ohio avenue.

George Hutchinson, of St. George street, is making preparations to move his family to a farm near Millport next week.

The revival services at the Free Methodist church, Oakland, in progress for several months, have been brought to a close. Services hereafter will be struggling for several days, perhaps weeks. Take some reliable remedy for it today—and let that remedy be Dr. Boschee's German Syrup, which has been in use for over 35 years. A few doses of it will undoubtedly relieve your cough or cold, and its continued use for a few days will cure you completely. No matter how deep-seated your cough, even if dread consumption has attacked your lungs, German Syrup will surely effect a cure—as it has done before in thousands of apparently hopeless cases of lung trouble. New trial bottles, 25c; regular size, 75c. At all druggists.

"DO IT TODAY."

The time-worn injunction, "Never put off 'till tomorrow what you can do today," is now generally presented in this form: "Do it today!" That is the terse advice we want to give you about that hacking cough or demoralizing cold with which you have been struggling for several days, perhaps weeks. Take some reliable remedy for it today—and let that remedy be Dr. Boschee's German Syrup, which has been in use for over 35 years. A few doses of it will undoubtedly relieve your cough or cold, and its continued use for a few days will cure you completely. No matter how deep-seated your cough, even if dread consumption has attacked your lungs, German Syrup will surely effect a cure—as it has done before in thousands of apparently hopeless cases of lung trouble. What to Eat With the Fingers.

A man who has forgotten to get married and is consequently obliged to dine about town in various restaurants says that he can readily pick out persons not accustomed to dining away from home from their inexperience in using their fingers. At table d'hote places especially things are served as courses which are expected to be eaten with the fingers. No idea as to what is right can be obtained from the waiters, for it is the custom to put cutlery enough for the entire meal on the table with the soup.

Olives should be eaten with the fingers, though many of the uninitiated try to split them with a fork. Asparagus should be eaten with the fingers. That is why the cook does not throw sauce over the root ends. Green corn should be eaten with the fingers and not scraped from the cob with a knife. Spaghetti should be eaten with a fork and a crust of bread. In Italian restaurants a man who cuts his spaghetti into small pieces with a knife, as he would salad, is looked upon as a rank outsider.—New York Press.

The Peanut.

The home of the peanut, or ground pea (also often called pindar and goober), is believed to be Brazil, although it very soon spread to Africa, China, Japan and India and was recognized as a valuable agricultural product in these countries long before it was cultivated on a large scale in its native soil, which was not until the year 1870. In the old world, however, it has always been planted and harvested for the sake of the oil that it yields. This is said to rival olive oil in quality and to be used for the same purposes. The nuts raised in the east are far richer in oil than the American varieties.

The most popular of the American peanuts is the "Virginia running variety." The pod and nut of the Virginia variety are twice as large as those of the North Carolina or African peanut. The Spanish nuts, usually sold only after being shelled and salted, are still smaller, but of excellent flavor. Tennessee has two varieties, called the white and the red, the kernels of the latter having a dark red skin.

Dee's Magic Mirror.

There are several accounts of the manner in which the famous gunpowder plot of 1605 was discovered, but among the students of occult science the belief is that its timely discovery was made by Dr. John Dee by means of a magic mirror. Proof of how general this belief was at one time is given by the fact that in some editions of the Common Prayer Book, published in the eighteenth century, is to be found an engraving inserted before the service for Nov. 5 depicting a circular mirror on a stand in which is the reflection of the houses of parliament by night and a person carrying a dark lantern. On the left side are two men in the costume of the reign of King James looking into the mirror. On the right side at the top the eye of Providence throws a ray on to the mirror. Beneath are legs and hoofs, as if evil spirits were making their exit.

A Good Place to Avoid.

In the northern Shan states, on the border of Burma, there is a tribe called the Wild Was. These people propitiate with human skulls the demons whom they worship. Outside every village in their country there are many posts, all in one line, decked with human skulls. A niche is cut in the back of each post with a ledge on which the skull can rest and grin through a hole in front of it. Every village has a dozen and some as many as a hundred of these head posts. Fresh skulls are in special request at harvest time and are purchased for large sums, those of distinguished visitors being particularly desired.

The Shut.

A story is told of Count Schouvaloff, former Russian ambassador to England. He greatly admired Englishwomen and was heartily annoyed when he offended any one of them. While he was in London he learned English, and, having heard one famous English beauty say "Shut up," to another, he imagined it to be a phrase of polite agreement, such as "Say no more." In this sense he himself addressed it to an illustrious lady the next night at dinner, to the lady's consternation, and his own when later he discovered his mistake.

Played an Organ.

The little daughter of a well known New York musician was much charmed the other day by the ingenuous remark of a "new friend." Said the little girl proudly:

"My father is an organist."

"And does he have a monkey?" was the prompt rejoinder.

Nightly Excited Curiosity.

Owight—I had an awful time thinking up an excuse to give my wife when I got home from the club last night.

Lushman—Did she demand one?

Owight—Of course. I got home so early that it piqued her curiosity.—Exchange.

A Parallel.

An old farmer said to his sons: "Boys, don't you wait for something to turn up. You might just as well go and sit down on a stone in the middle of a meadow with a pall 'twixt your legs and wait for a cow to back up to you to be milked."

A street in California

There are at least a hundred towns and cities in California which have anywhere from two to twenty streets like this—palm-lined avenues, where all manner of tropical and sub-tropical flowers and shrubs flourish as nowhere else.

The houses along these avenues are in keeping with their surroundings—cool, inviting, with wide shady verandas and well-kept lawns.

Thousands of eastern people own their own homes in California and live there five or six months of each year. Ten times ten thousand people go there every fall and return the following spring. Such an air is far better than ordinary sea air, the Pacific air is finer.

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 16, 1904.

Nowhere will the death of Senator Hanna be more sincerely mourned than in Columbian county, his birthplace and boyhood home. This locality has produced a number of great men, but Senator Hanna was Columbian county's most illustrious son. His death leaves a vacancy, not alone in the United States Senate and in the council of the Republican party, but throughout the whole country. He was a man whom the people honored and trusted. "He was a man, take him all in all, we shall not look upon his like again." His most conspicuous qualities were his manliness and his aggressive Americanism. The nation has produced more brilliant orators and more profound scholars, but no better Americans. As an orator, he used sledge hammer blows oftener than flowers of rhetoric. As a student he devoted himself more to the practical side of life and to economic questions than to the graces of the arts or the classic in literature. He was a man of the people, and he never made the mistake of talking or writing above the heads of his auditors or his readers. His logic was honest, but flawless, and although he talked a great deal, he always said exactly what he meant and never had anything to retract or apologize for. He won friends and retained them, because he was true to his friends, his country and himself. His was a strong character, and in coming years he will be remembered as a striking figure in our national history. All Ohio, all the United States, has abundant reason for regret that such a man has been cut down in the midst of his usefulness and at the zenith of his fame.

It is several days since the Democrats have launched any new presidential beams. Maybe they have concluded that they will have enough trouble in floating those already launched.

Easter is approaching, but it is a lamentable fact that a good many people are thinking more of their Easter garments than of their Easter religion.

Uniformity of spelling in Japanese war dispatches will be impossible in this country unless Japanese telegraph editors are employed.

Senator Hanna's political enemies are now silent and will join as readily as any in paying tribute to the greatness of the man.

Suspicion is growing that there is more fiction than fact in the oriental reports of events in the Japanese-Russian war.

All honor to Colorado representative who resigned his seat rather than retain it with the taint of fraud attached!

The good roads movement ought to have struck Ohio two or three generations ago, but it is better late than never.

Mrs. Soffel's play is getting enough free advertising to make the managers of rival attractions envious.

Despite declarations of neutrality, there is no evidence of any widespread friendliness for Russia.

King winter is still showing both his authority and his strength.

OBITUARY

Mrs Jane Moore.

The body of Mrs. Jane Moore, who died at the home of Mrs. Gillis McGregor, Ninth and Front street, Wellsville, yesterday, will be taken to Beaver for burial Wednesday at noon. Funeral services will be held at the McGregor home tonight, at which Rev. L. F. Lavery is expected to officiate. Mrs. Moore was formerly a resident of Beaver, but for the past four years has lived in Wellsville.

SENATOR QUAY DEFENDS GOVERNOR PENNYPACKER

Washington, Feb. 16.—Secretary Andrews of the Republican state committee of Pennsylvania gave out a statement addressed "To the Republicans of Pennsylvania," which was written and signed by United States Senator Quay at St. Lucie, Fla., Feb. 13. In this statement Senator Quay says that Governor Pennypacker has at no time been a candidate for the supreme bench and that he has been abused by anonymous letter writers and malicious persons.

Miners' Conference Date Set. Indianapolis, Feb. 16.—The special committee appointed by the coal operators and miners of Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Western Pennsylvania to consider the advisability of calling another joint conference, have decided that the conference should be held here Feb. 29.

COMBINATION OFFER

Of the Cleveland Plain Dealer—An unusually Attractive Proposition.

The Cleveland Plain Dealer is making unusually attractive offers of the best known literary and agricultural publications in combination with their own special daily mail edition.

This edition of the Plain Dealer by itself costs $1.50 per year, but if the Ohio Farmer is ordered in combination with it, both papers are sent for $1.60 per year. If desired the National Stockman and Farmer may be substituted for the Ohio Farmer, the yearly price for this latter combination being $1.75.

The special mail edition of the Daily Plain Dealer is favorably known for the high standard maintained, being complete in every department (news, markets, editorial, literary, household, etc.) accurate in every statement and corrected to the last moment before going to press. Its well known reputation for fair speaking and dealing is certain to make it particularly interesting and valuable to its readers during the presidential campaign that is close at hand.

AT THE THEATER

The next attraction, next Wednesday night, is the most novel and important event of the season, from a theatrical standpoint. It is called "A Daring Woman," and the cast is headed by no less a personage than Mrs. Soffel, the courageous woman who gave up all that women hold most dear—home, husband, children, reputation, the approval of the world, family, friends, everything, for what she conceived to be the promptings of her heart.

"Alphonse and Gaston" is the attraction at the Grand next Thursday night and it promises to be the laughing event of the season. The present management who control this attraction by special arrangement with W. R. Hearst, of the New York Journal, has been most lavish in providing special costumes, scenery, properties and accessories and has engaged a most competent company of players for the production.

Shorthand and Mental Discipline.

The mental discipline which may be derived from the practice of stenography is permanent. Speed may be lost, word signs may slip away, but the power of concentrating the attention persists. Nor is the increased power of analysis confined to the analysis of spoken words. It is brought into play in all kinds of mental work. Possibly the truth may be that only persons with minds naturally analytic can become expert stenographers and that the faculty is a cause rather than an effect of such proficiency. However that may be, the man who has a mind of that sort can select a topic at random, analyze it rapidly into its natural subdivisions and make a speech or write an essay on it while the other men would be groping around for an introduction. The value of this sort of discipline to a lawyer or preacher or writer is obvious. Mathematics is the only study that can be compared to a scientific system of shorthand for the development of analytical powers. The World Today.

A Fine Gentleman.

The Due de Richelle, the beloved of ladies, the breaker of hearts, was the perfect fine gentleman of a studiously elegant epoch. The suave repose of his manner was immoveable. When his second wife lay dying he came in to see her, stepping softly, hat in hand. Though she was expiring, her fading eye lit up at the sight of him.

"How sweet it would be for me to die in your arms," she murmured.

He held her as she wished till she died, then went out again, stepping softly, hat in hand. One of his spiteful chroniclers—a woman, needless to say—suggests that he was off to a rendezvous with the lady of the moment, and that the graceful manner in which he bore the delay caused by his wife's death was proof of the perfect breeding of one of the finest gentlemen in Europe.—Geraldine Bonner in The Reader.

Paganini's Ideas of the Sabbath.

An incident in the life of Paganini comes to us from Liverpool. The great violinist was visiting friends in the suburbs of that city at the house of a lady whose religious ideas were severely strained by her guest venturing to play on the Sabbath day.

"Vy," asked the musician, "eef ze Sabat mos be so holie that nosing mos be done at all, vy does Providence permit ze leetle birds to sing on dat day and ze leaves of ze forest to clap ze hands for joy, making ze rustling music, and ze vatters of ze great deep to sound zeir mysterious harmonies?"

Paganini's stay at that house, we are told, was brief.—London News.

Thieves and Bibles.

Bibles are said by detectives to be more rarely stolen than any other objects. This is not because Bibles are worthless to a thief, but because few criminals are sufficiently depraved to steal the good book. A detective said recently that in an important case which he had followed up some years ago a thief had entered the house, stolen some valuable jewels and left untouched a Bible bound in white chicken skin and studded with pearls. The detective caught the thief, and the man who had been robbed, a dealer in curios, visited his despoiler in jail, took an interest in him because he had not taken the Bible and eventually reformed him and got him a good job.

"I knew," the thief said, "that if I took that Bible it would do me harm and if I didn't take it it might do me good. I let it alone, and now, thank heaven, I'm an honest and a righteous man."

The detective added that in another case where a thief had stolen a Bible the book had been returned. "Another thing few thieves will take," he added, "is a child's savings bank."—Chicago Tribune.

The Useful Sunflower.

It is a common joke to call inferior cigars "cabbage leaves," but, as a matter of fact, some very good "weeds" are made from the leaves of the sunflower. These leaves can also be smoked in the place of tobacco, forming quite a passable substitute.

The stalks and leaves make excellent food for various animals, while the former can also be employed as fuel. Sunflower cake is made from the seeds of this useful plant after the oil has been extracted, this oil being very nearly equal to olive oil and used in cooking. The seeds not only serve as food for cattle; they are mashed and kneaded into bread by the poor peasants of certain parts of Russia, and they find it very palatable.

Potash is obtained from the ash of the stalks. The proportion is about one-third of potash to the total ash left after burning. A yellow dye is made from the flower of the plant. The fiber can be worked into a silk material.

When Two Rainbows Are Seen.

When two rainbows are sometimes seen at once, one outside the other, the inner or primary bow, as it is called, is always the brighter, and the red band of color is always on its outside. The outer or secondary bow is much fainter in color, and the red band is always on its inside. This is because in the primary bow the sun's rays are only reflected once, while in the secondary bow they are reflected twice, which makes them fainter in color and turns them upside down. In one rainbow we see the rays of the sun entering the raindrops at the top and reflected to the eye from the bottom, while in the other we see the rays entering the raindrops at the bottom and reflected from the top, whence they reach the eye.

The Veil in Persia.

J. D. Rees, a lecturer on Persia, says that the veils worn by Persian ladies are more of a privilege than punishment. Screened behind it woman may walk wherever she pleases, and even her own husband dare not question her movements. Doubtless many Persian ladies make the most of their opportunities. The Persians, as a rule, do not think it right to take wine, but as nearly all their poetry is in praise of the flowing bowl it will be inferred that they frequently do violence to their conscience. Occasionally, however, they are seized with remorse, whereupon they destroy the wine of their Armenian neighbors.

Pawning Wives and Daughters.

They have a curious way of utilizing wives and daughters in some parts of India. If a man wants money he puts these members of his establishment in pawn, and his creditor detains them until the debt is discharged. The custom varies in different localities. In Mellore the Yercalle pledge their daughters to creditors who may either marry them or give them away, and a man who has to go to jail deposits his wife with another family or her tribe until his return. In North Arcot unmarried daughters are frequently mortgaged and become the absolute property of the holder until liquidation.

Easy Reading For Infants.

He proposed, conjointly with his father and brother, to blast the stone as the most expeditious mode of gaining access to her arca, and this in the open daylight, in order that any tuteary protection she might be disposed to extend to her favorite haunt might, as she was a thing of darkness and night, be effectually counterbalanced.—Extract from Child's Fairy Book.

Three Men.

There are three sorts of men in the world—three, and no more. And of women only one. There are happy men and there are knaves and fools. Hybrids I don't count. And to my mind knaves and fools are very much alike.—"Love and Mr. Lewisham."

OBITUARY

Mrs Jane Moore.

The body of Mrs. Jane Moore, who died at the home of Mrs. Gillis McGregor, Ninth and Front street, Wellsville, yesterday, will be taken to Beaver for burial Wednesday at noon. Funeral services will be held at the McGregor home tonight, at which Rev. L. F. Lavery is expected to officiate. Mrs. Moore was formerly a resident of Beaver, but for the past four years has lived in Wellsville.

SENATOR QUAY DEFENDS GOVERNOR PENNYPACKER

Washington, Feb. 16.—Secretary Andrews of the Republican state committee of Pennsylvania gave out a statement addressed "To the Republicans of Pennsylvania," which was written and signed by United States Senator Quay at St. Lucie, Fla., Feb. 13. In this statement Senator Quay says that Governor Pennypacker has at no time been a candidate for the supreme bench and that he has been abused by anonymous letter writers and malicious persons.

Miners' Conference Date Set. Indianapolis, Feb. 16.—The special committee appointed by the coal operators and miners of Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Western Pennsylvania to consider the advisability of calling another joint conference, have decided that the conference should be held here Feb. 29.

COMBINATION OFFER

Of the Cleveland Plain Dealer—An Unusually Attractive Proposition.

The Cleveland Plain Dealer is making unusually attractive offers of the best known literary and agricultural publications in combination with their own special daily mail edition.

This edition of the Plain Dealer by itself costs $1.50 per year, but if the Ohio Farmer is ordered in combination with it, both papers are sent for $1.60 per year. If desired the National Stockman and Farmer may be substituted for the Ohio Farmer, the yearly price for this latter combination being $1.75.

The special mail edition of the Daily Plain Dealer is favorably known for the high standard maintained, being complete in every department (news, markets, editorial, literary, household, etc.) accurate in every statement and corrected to the last moment before going to press. Its well known reputation for fair speaking and dealing is certain to make it particularly interesting and valuable to its readers during the presidential campaign that is close at hand.

AT THE THEATER

The next attraction, next Wednesday night, is the most novel and important event of the season, from a theatrical standpoint.

It is called "A Daring Woman," and the cast is headed by no less a personage than Mrs.

Soffel, the courageous woman who gave up all that women hold most dear—home, husband, children, reputation, the approval of the world, family, friends, everything, for what she conceived to be the promptings of her heart.

Shorthand and Mental Discipline.

The mental discipline which may be derived from the practice of stenography is permanent. Speed may be lost, word signs may slip away, but the power of concentrating the attention persists. Nor is the increased power of analysis confined to the analysis of spoken words. It is brought into play in all kinds of mental work. Possibly the truth may be that only persons with minds naturally analytic can become expert stenographers and that the faculty is a cause rather than an effect of such proficiency. However that may be, the man who has a mind of that sort can select a topic at random, analyze it rapidly into its natural subdivisions, and make a speech or write an essay on it while the other men would be groping around for an introduction. The value of this sort of discipline to a lawyer or preacher or writer is obvious. Mathematics is the only study that can be compared to a scientific system of shorthand for the development of analytical powers.

The World Today.

A Fine Gentleman.

The Due de Richelieu, the beloved of ladies, the breaker of hearts, was the perfect fine gentleman of a studiously elegant epoch. The suave repose of his manner was immovable. When his second wife lay dying he came in to see her, stepping softly, bat in hand. Though she was expiring, her fading eye lit up at the sight of him.

"How sweet it would be for me to die in your arms," she murmured.

He held her as she wished till she died, then went out again, stepping softly, bat in hand. One of his spiteful chroniclers—a woman needless to say—suggests that he was off to a rendezvous with the lady of the moment, and that the graceful manner in which he bore the delay caused by his wife's death was proof of the perfect breeding of one of the finest gentlemen in Europe.—Geraldine Bonner in The Reader.

Paganini's Idea of the Sabbath.

An incident in the life of Paganini comes to us from Liverpool. The great violinist was visiting friends in the suburbs of that city at the house of a lady whose religious ideas were severely strained by her guest venturing to play on the Sabbath day.

"VY," asked the musician, "eef ze Sabat mos be so holie that nosing mos be done at all, vy does Proveedence permit ze leetle birds to sing on dat day and ze leaves of ze forest to clap ze hands for joy, making ze rustling music, and ze vaters of ze great deep to sound zeir mysterious harmonies?"

Paganini's stay at that house, we are told, was brief.—London News.

Thieves and Bibles.

Bibles are said by detectives to be more rarely stolen than any other objects. This is not because Bibles are worthless to a thief, but because few criminals are sufficiently depraved to steal the good book. A detective said recently that in an important case which he had followed up some years ago a thief had entered the house, stolen some valuable jewels and left untouched a Bible bound in white chicken skin and studded with pearls. The detective caught the thief, and the man who had been robbed, a dealer in curios, visited his despoiler in jail, took an interest in him because he had not taken the Bible and eventually reformed him and got him a good job.

"I knew," the thief said, "that if I took that Bible it would do me harm and if I didn't take it it might do me good. I let it alone, and now, thank heaven, I'm an honest and a righteous man."

The detective added that in another case where a thief had stolen a Bible the book had been returned. "Another thing few thieves will take," he added, "is a child's savings bank"—Chicago Tribune.

The Useful Sunflower.

It is a common joke to call inferior cigars "cabbage leaves," but as a matter of fact, some very good "weeds" are made from the leaves of the sunflower. These leaves can also be smoked in the place of tobacco, forming quite a passable substitute.

The stalks and leaves make excellent food for various animals, while the former can also be employed as fuel. Sunflower cake is made from the seeds of this useful plant after the oil has been extracted, this oil being very nearly equal to olive oil and used in cooking. The seeds not only serve as food for cattle; they are mashed and kneaded into bread by the poor peasants of certain parts of Russia, and they find it very palatable.

Potash is obtained from the ash of the stalks. The proportion is about one-third of potash to the total ash left after burning. A yellow dye is made from the flower of the plant. The fiber can be worked into a silk material.

When Two Rainbows Are Seen.

When two rainbows are sometimes seen at once, one outside the other, the inner or primary bow, as it is called, is always the brighter, and the red band of color is always on its outside. The outer or secondary bow is much fainter in color, and the red band is always on its inside. This is because in the primary bow the sun's rays are only reflected once, while in the secondary bow they are reflected twice, which makes them fainter in color and turns them upside down. In one rainbow we see the rays of the sun entering the raindrops at the top and reflected to the eye from the bottom, while in the other we see the rays entering the raindrops at the bottom and reflected from the top, whence they reach the eye.

The Veil In Persia.

J. D. Rees, lecturer on Persia, says that the veils worn by Persian ladies are more of a privilege than a punishment. Screened behind it woman may walk wherever she pleases, and even her own husband dare not question her movements. Doubtless many Persian ladies make the most of their opportunities. The Persians, as a rule, do not think it right to take wine, but as nearly all their poetry is in praise of the flowing bowl it will be inferred that they frequently do violence to their conscience. Occasionally, however, they are seized with remorse, whereupon they destroy the wine of their Armenian neighbors.

Pawning Wives and Daughters.

They have a curious way of utilizing wives and daughters in some parts of India. If a man wants money he puts these members of his establishment in pawn, and his creditor detains them until the debt is discharged. The custom varies in different localities. In Mysore the Yercals pledge their daughters to creditors who may either marry them or give them away, and a man who has to go to jail deposits his wife with another family of her tribe until his return. In North Arcot unmarried daughters are frequently mortgaged and become the absolute property of the holder until liquidation.

Easy Reading For Infants.

He proposed, conjointly with his father and brother, to blast the stone as the most expeditious mode of gaining access to her arca, and this in the open daylight, in order that any tutelary protection she might be disposed to extend to her favorite haunt might, as she was a thing of darkness and night, be effectually counteracted.—Extract from Child's Fairy Book.

Three Men.

There are three sorts of men in the world—three, and no more. And of women only one. There are happy men and there are knaves and fools. Hybrids I don't count. And to my mind knaves and fools are very much alike.—Love and Mr. Lewisham.

POPULAR MAN GETS APPOINTMENT

WM. RUSSELL, NEW FIREMAN-PATROLMAN, EXPERIENCED MAN.

Will Assume Duties Next Monday, But Will Take a Course of Training at Alliance Before Long.

The appointment of William Russell to the position of joint patrolman and fireman by Mayor Foggo, meets with the hearty approval of all. The appointment was made known yesterday and last night Mr. Russell was warmly congratulated.

The new patrolman-fireman has been a member of the volunteer fire department for years, and only recently resigned from the department. He has been employed as a driver for the Patterson Pottery company and understands quite thoroughly the duties that confront him.

As exclusively announced in this paper several days ago, Patrolman Russell will leave soon for Alliance, where he will remain several days, being drilled in the way of fighting fires and in police work. His trip to Alliance will be paid from the public safety fund.

Upon his return from Alliance Russell will at once assume his work at the West End fire station.

Work was commenced yesterday completing detail arrangements at the new station. The fire box indicator will be placed in the bed room of the new fireman. This new box was tested yesterday and many thought it was a call to a fire.

The new combination fire-patrol wagon will be removed to the station at once. The new horse has not been purchased yet, but this will be done this week.

Mr. Russell has resigned his position with the pottery company and will become a city employee next Monday.

ITALIAN WITH A DIRK, WANTED OFFICERS LIFE

Patrolman Williams, of Wellsville, narrowly escaped being killed by a Prisoner.

Patrolman Williams, of beat No. 1, Wellsville, narrowly escaped being stabbed to death last evening while arresting an Italian on Third street. The foreigners there have given the officers much trouble. The fight started last night and Williams seized one of the combatants. The Italian drew an ugly dirk and would have plunged it into the officer's body had not the latter used his mace freely.

A six inch dirk, $5 in cash and a silver watch were taken from the prisoner by Patrolman Williams.

Mayor Foggo released the Italian to allow him to obtain medical aid. A five inch cut on the back of the head was caused by the man striking the pavement after being struck by Williams. The case promises to be one of the most sensational since Mayor Foggo took office.

WATER WORKS AND COUNCIL

A Lively Controversy Over the Issue in the Board of Public Service.

"I am willing to submit if that is the law, but I will want to get other advice upon the question besides Solicitor Boyd," said Mr. Bowers when the letter of Auditor McGregor was read by Clerk Sinclair at a meeting of the service board this morning.

The letter referred to the action of council in making the appropriations of the water works department.

The board also decided to advertise for bids for the construction of a receiving vault for Spring Hill cemetery. Bids will be asked for a vault of brick and stone, of nine and 12 caskets, and also for a granite vault of both sizes.

After a number of bills had been approved Mr. Stewart said: "I presume that we should approve bills for the water work department up to February 11, when council took the water department from the board."

To this Mr. Bowers replied: "I can't see why we should not approve bills for materials we ordered. It appears that we have been doing business legally, for the solicitor said we were. Now he says we have nothing to do with the water department. It is the legality of the question that I want to get at."

This ended the discussion and the board approved bills ordered up to and including February 11.

ACT OF KINDNESS BY THE GAS MAN

Supt. Jesse Hunter Saves the City $200 And Is Being Congratulated for It.

Supt. Jesse Hunter, of the Tri-State Gas company, has saved the city of Wellsville $200. Only a few of the city officials know of this kind act upon the part of the representative of the corporation, but it is nevertheless a fact.

The city is indebted to the company $600 for gas used during a portion of January and February. Most of the fuel was used by the water works, while some gas was used for other city purposes, namely, for light in the city hall and at the office of the board of service and the water works trustees.

The time limit for the discount expired yesterday, and the bill was not paid or ordered paid. When Supt. Hunter was advised of this fact he said:

"We do not need the money very badly, and while the discount is large, yet the company will not compel the city to pay it. We will wait a few days, and I feel certain the bill will be ordered paid in the meantime."

A special meeting of the water works trustees was to have been held last night when the bill was to have been

Several of the local ministers, among them Rev. J. W. Gorrell and Rev. Edwin Weary, had their coats off today working to prevent Mrs. Soffel from appearing on the stage here tomorrow evening. They applied to the management of the opera house, but received no satisfaction, and then went to the mayor, with the same result. They talked of circulating a petition for signatures of people opposed to the performance.

COLD WEATHER PREVENTS

Workmen at the New Lake at Rock Springs Unable to Continue Work Today.

Owing to the extreme cold weather the workmen engaged in constructing the sewer for the new lake at Rock Springs park were unable to continue their work today. The mortar for the brick work could not be kept thawed out and the weather was too intense for the men who were working with the steam shovel. Considerable advance has been made, but the men have been delayed by the lack of explosives which it is necessary to use to break the crust of the earth before the shovel can be put in operation.

Every preparation has been made for rapidly pushing the work as soon as the weather is open.

New Pastor Coming.

The workmen are expected to place the slate roof on the new Presbyterian church building this week. Rev. J. W. Dunbar, the pastor to whom has been given a call by the Presbyterian congregation, will arrive in Chester Thursday. He has not yet given his answer to the call, but is expected to do so at the services Sunday when he will deliver two discourses.

CHESTER NOTES.

Aaron Allison is ill at the home of M. A. Jackson.

C. A. Smith has been spending considerable time at the park superintending the work of improvement that is being made.

O. O. Allison went to Wheeling this morning on business connected with the state J. O. O. M. order. He expects to return this evening or tomorrow morning.

The well which is being drilled on the Joseph Ramsay farm was expected in today, but those who came from that vicinity stated that the workmen were compelled to leave their work on account of the weather.

WHIT-RICKERSBERG

A Wedding of Great Interest at the Elks' Home at 6 O'Clock This Evening.

The marriage of Miss Belle Whit, of this city, and Mr. Gus Rickersberg, of Philadelphia, will take place in the Elks' home on Washington street at 6 o'clock this evening. The affair will be one of the principal society events of the season. The rooms of the Elks have been tastefully decorated, greens and flowers, white predominating.

The ceremony will be performed in the parlor by Rabbi Harry Levi, of Wheeling, in the presence of about 60 of the relatives and friends of the contracting parties. Miss Marian Hymes will carry the ring. Prof. Albert Hatch will play the wedding march, and after the newly married couple have received the congratulations of their friends the wedding supper will be served by Caterer Luther, of Pittsburgh. The dinner will be served in the dining room of the lodge.

At the conclusion of the dinner the opera house orchestra will render the music for dancing which will be continued throughout the evening.

WILL REED RELIES UPON HYOMEI

Cures Colds, Coughs, Catarrh and Grip—Just Breathe It.

Hyomei is nature's own remedy for curing catarrh, colds, coughs and disease of the respiratory organs. It is the only natural treatment for the cure of these troubles.

Breathed through the neat pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit, the air that passes into the throat and lungs, is identical with that on the mountains, where it is laden with healing and health-giving balsams. It searches out and kills disease germs in the most remote and minute air cells of the head, throat and lungs, it soothes and heals all irritation of the mucous membrane.

Hyomei is prescribed by physicians generally. Many of them use it themselves to break up a cold and prevent pneumonia.

The complete Hyomei outfit consists of a neat inhaler, that is so small and convenient that it can be carried in the pocket or purse, a medicine dropper and a bottle of Hyomei. This costs but $1, and it will cure any ordinary case of catarrh. In chronic and deep-seated conditions, longer use is necessary and extra bottles of Hyomei can be obtained for 50c, making it a most economical treatment for this disease.

Will Reed has so much confidence in the power of Hyomei to cure catarrh and other diseases of the throat and lungs that he sells it under his personal guarantee to refund the money to any purchaser in case it fails to give satisfaction. Will Reed takes all the risk himself, and Hyomei costs you absolutely nothing unless it does you good.

The police force started out again last evening on a tour of devastation with damaging results to a West End resort familiarly known as the Green Goose. The proprietress, Miss Carrie Smith, with three of her underlings and four men were caught in the raid and all will appear before the mayor this evening to explain.

The party consisted of six officers. They divided into two bunches. Aufderheide, Dawson and McDermott selecting the Green Goose and Morris, Mahoney and Todd the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cal Smith. In the latter house everything was quiet and no arrests were made. At the Green Goose the officers had no difficulty in gaining an entrance.

As the patrol wagon was in the East End, the sorry lot was compelled to walk to the lock up. Forfeits were put up.

Columbus, February 16.—(Special.)

The school teachers of Mingo Junction favor radical changes in the school laws, and have forwarded to Senators Connell and Heinlein resolutions reflecting their views. They ask that special school districts be retained; that boards of education in such districts be composed of not less than five members and not more than seven members, to be nominated by petition and elected at large by the Australian ballot without political designation, said members to receive $2 for each regular meeting attended; that superintendents in special districts be elected for not more than five years nor less than two years, with power to nominate teachers; that the first appointment of teachers be for one year, the second for two years and the third for life, unless removed for charges preferred by the superintendent and sustained by the board; that the minimum salary of teachers be $40 per month; that after January, 1906, no person be licensed to teach who shall not present satisfactory evidence of academic education equivalent to that of the completion of a course in a second-grade high school; that rural schools of the state be under efficient county supervision supported by a county tax; that examination questions for teachers be prepared under the direction of the state school commissioner and that examiners be appointed as at present, save that they be active teachers holding high grade certificates in the county in which they serve; that the five and eight-year certificates be made valid throughout the state and that all certificates be valid in the congressional districts of which the county in which they are granted forms a constituent part; that the present compulsory law be incorporated in the new code as it stands and that teachers' institutes be placed under the control of the county superintendents, should such an institute be created, and that teachers receive pay at the rate of $2 per day for attending them.

Will Reed has so much confidence in the power of Hyomei to cure catarrh and other diseases of the throat and lungs that he sells it under his personal guarantee to refund the money to any purchaser in case it fails to give satisfaction. Will Reed takes all the risk himself, and Hyomei costs you absolutely nothing unless it does you good.

The party consisted of six officers. They divided into two bunches. Aufderheide, Dawson and McDermott selecting the Green Goose and Morris, Mahoney and Todd the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cal Smith. In the latter house everything was quiet and no arrests were made. At the Green Goose the officers had no difficulty in gaining an entrance.

As the patrol wagon was in the East End, the sorry lot was compelled to walk to the lock up. Forfeits were put up.

CONTRACT AWARDED FOR SCHOOL ADDITION

Claude Nease & Co. Will Build the Extension to Garfield School for $9,264.

At the meeting of the board of education held last evening Claude Nease & Co. were awarded the contract for the building of the four-roomed addition to the Garfield school building in the East End. The meeting was held for the purpose of considering the bid and the contract was awarded to the lowest company. The four bids received were as follows:

Claude Nease & Co. $9,264
Cope & Warrick 9,316
Harvey McHenry 9,545
J. C. Cain & Co. 9,625

The contractors to whom the work was awarded state that they will begin the work of excavating at once. It is expected to have the addition ready for occupancy at the commencement of the fall term of school.

New Brake Tested—Supt. W. B. Thomas, of the East Liverpool railway, yesterday tried a new brake, the invention of W. B. Storch, of Pittsburgh. It was given a trial on the Washington street hill and seemed to work well. It will be given a further test.

Nine times out of ten it comes from the kidneys.

That's why Doan's Kidney Pills cure it.
Cure every kidney ill from backache to diabetes.

Here's an East Liverpool case to prove it.

Mr. S. C. Hill, of Esther, Pa., carpenter, says: "For a year I suffered from pain across the back, difficulty with the kidney secretions and was naturally anxious to procure some treatment which would check it if not radically cure the trouble. Advised by a friend I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at the W. & W. Pharmacy, and I want East Liverpool to thoroughly grasp this fact before I used the entire contents of the box I was cured.

To prove that my convictions were laid on solid foundation I have since purchased for a neighbor of mine three boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills. They cured him. Several rival teams are now working with might and main to win the much sought and valuable prize, but they have all made the request that their names, or rather the name of their teams, be kept from the others. Now is the time for the ball nines to organize and get in this contest. Do not put it off until warm weather comes, as it will be too late then. The other teams would have too big a start.

MINISTERS TO ACT

Wellsville Clergymen Object to Boxing And Will Appeal to Mayor Fogo.

The ministers of Wellsville have received information that an attempt will soon be made to pull off a boxing contest within the city limits, and if all agreeable the affair will probably take place at the opera house.

It is said that a number of young men of the city have had in view the giving of a boxing contest for some time, and that the preliminary arrangements have gone so far that Solicitor Boyd will be consulted soon regarding the legality of having a contest.

It is known that the more conservative citizens of Wellsville are opposed to any affair of the kind, while the younger element are strongly in favor of such a sporting event. However, it is proposed to do everything within the limits of the law. Hence, the advice of Solicitor Boyd will be sought.

Ministers claim that inasmuch as they have received information that such an affair is being planned it will probably be discussed at the next meeting of the ministerial association, and that Mayor Fogo will be asked to use his good offices to prevent any affair of the kind.

The regular meeting of the association was to have been held yesterday, but there was none. It is likely a session will be held next Monday, when the proposed boxing tournament will be discussed.

George Westlake, of New Cumberland, returned to his home after visiting friends in Chester for several days. He will leave with his brother, Robert, for Corsicana, Tex., March 5, where the two will play base ball during the coming season.

BASEBALL AMATEURS WILL APPRECIATE THIS OFFER

The News Review, ever with a friendly feeling towards the boys, as has been demonstrated time and again, has decided once more to do something which will cause the youngsters much genuine pleasure and sport. It proposes to give to the amateur base ball nine, either in East Liverpool, Chester or Wellsville, which secures the greatest number of subscribers for the News Review by May 15, a complete outfit, consisting of nine suits made to the individual measure of each member of the winning team.

The suits will be made from gray maroon, brown or blue green flannel, with the name of the nine across the shirt front in felt letters. The shirts will be button front, with detachable sleeves, and the pants will be padded in regulation style—the same as in use in the National league; stockings, caps, belts, mask, three (A1) famous St. Louis bats and two first-class balls.

Any nine in the three above mentioned cities may enter this contest; the only requirement being that the captain is to call in person on the circulation manager of this paper and get full particulars and blanks, as well as enter the name of his team as contestants.

The contest commences Monday, February 14, and closes at midnight May 14, 1904. Hustle, boys, and see who wins this expensive prize. A subscription secured for one month counts your team one point; three months, two points; six months, three points, and one year, four points.

The rest of the team is made up of the very best of material, including Otis Mount, catcher; Clyde Smith and Allen Calhoun, pitchers; Harry Myers, shortstop; Thomas Wyman, first base; Robert Boyd, second base and manager; Earl Headley, third base; William Cook, left field; Runt Rhue, center field, and William Beatty, right field; subs, Albert Owens and Fred Duncan.

They are ready to meet any 14 or 15-year-old teams in the city. They want to arrange games also with New Cumberland, Rochester, Pa., Salem, Lisbon, Toronto, Wellsville and Salineville; also the Primrose of Pittsburgh.

They have chosen their suits for next season. They are brown, trimmed in white, with brown and white striped stockings, brown cap with white belt and white button and white belt and white collar on the shirts.

A GREAT GAME COMES OFF TONIGHT

Syracuse Five, Champions of New York, Will Battle With East Liverpool.

Syracuse is the attraction at the pavilion tonight. The New Yorkers called champions of the state, reached here after successful engagements with several of the best teams of western Pennsylvania. The players ought to be in the very pink of condition and should play the game of their lives. The locals have rested for a week, but have not grown rusty, regular practice having been indulged in.

Local fans have been waiting for this game with considerable impatience, there being a general desire to see the East Liverpool five in battle with the flowers of New York state. A victory would cause great joy.

The visitors' line-up has been announced as follows: A. Powell, said to be the champion center of New York; Kirchgasser and Towley, forwards; Housknecht and Brady guards. The locals will line up as usual.

Prior to the big game two midget teams will play, commencing at 8 o'clock. The lineups will be:

No. 1—Reark and Gallimore, forwards; Rigby, center; Powell and Drake or Judge, guards.

No. 2—Smith and Robinson, forwards; Garner, center; McKenty, Thomas and Ebeling, guards.

HANNA'S SUCCESSOR

Ohio Politicians Are Casting About for Available Man for the Senate.

MANY NAMES ARE MENTIONED

Herrick, Taft, Jones, Cox, Grosvenor and Others Being Canvassed—Geographical Considerations Will Likely Be Large Factor in Situation.

Cincinnati, Feb. 16.—As the Ohio legislature is in session, Senator Hanna's successor will not be appointed by the governor, but at once elected for the terms expiring in March, 1905, and in March, 1911. Less than seven years ago Mr. Hanna, who had never before held office, succeeded John Sherman as senator and had over seven years yet to serve, having been re-elected last month.

During the past week there has been much comment about the senatorial succession. Among the names mentioned in this connection have been those of Governor Herrick, Charles P. Taft and George B. Cox, of Cincinnati; J. H. Hoyt of Cleveland; General J. Warren Kiefer of Springfield, General Asa W. Jones of Youngstown and Congressmen Dick, Grosvenor, Burton, Nevin and Warneck.

Senator Hanna lived in northeastern Ohio and Senator Foraker in southwestern Ohio. It is claimed by some that geographical conditions are likely to add to the chances of Governor Herrick or Congressman Dick, who reside in lake districts. While Senator Foraker resides in Cincinnati. The friends of Taft and Cox cite the case of their Indiana neighbors. Senators Fairbanks and Beveridge, both residing in Indianapolis. For years candidates for United States senators have been endorsed by state conventions so that the legislative action was merely perfunctory, but now there is every indication of a free for all contest before the legislature.

Members of amateur base ball teams will do well to put in their spare time among their relatives and friends securing subscriptions for the News Review. Every subscription you take for one month counts your team one point; three months, two points; six months, three points, and one year, four points. You all can influence some of your friends to give you a few subscriptions, and that few may be sufficient to win the base ball outfit which this paper is offering to the winning team.

Will Go to Texas.

George Westlake, of New Cumberland, returned to his home after visiting friends in Chester for several days. He will leave with his brother, Robert, for Corsicana, Tex., March 5, where the two will play base ball during the coming season.

A GREAT GAME COMES OFF TONIGHT

Syracuse Five, Champions of New York, Will Battle With East Liverpool.

Syracuse is the attraction at the pavilion tonight. The New Yorkers, called champions of the state, reached here after successful engagements with several of the best teams of western Pennsylvania. The players ought to be in the very pink of condition and should play the game of their lives. The locals have rested for a week, but have not grown rusty, regular practice having been indulged in.

Local fans have been waiting for this game with considerable impatience, there being a general desire to see the East Liverpool five in battle with the flowers of New York state.

The visitors' line-up has been announced as follows: A. Powell, said to be the champion center of New York; Kirchasser and Towley, forwards; Housknecht and Brady guards. The locals will line up as usual.

Prior to the big game two midget teams will play, commencing at 8 o'clock. The lineups will be:

No. 1—Reark and Gallimore, forwards; Rigby, center; Powell and Drake or Judge, guards.

No. 2—Smith and Robinson, forwards; Garner, center; McKenty, Thomas and Ebeling, guards.

SO DECEPTIVE

Many East Liverpool People Fail to Realize the Seriousness.

Backache is so deceptive.

It comes and goes—keeps you guessing.

Learn the cause—then cure it.

Nine times out of ten it comes from the kidneys.

That's why Doan's Kidney Pills cure it.

Cure every kidney ill from backache to diabetes.

Here's an East Liverpool case to prove it.

Mr. S. C. Hill, of Esther, Pa., carpenter, says: "For a year I suffered from pain across the back, difficulty with the kidney secretions and was naturally anxious to procure some treatment which would check it if not radically cure the trouble. Advised by a friend I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at the W. & W. Pharmacy, and I want East Liverpool to thoroughly grasp this fact before I used the entire contents of the box I was cured. To prove that my convictions were laid on solid foundation I have since purchased for a neighbor of mine three boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills. They cured him. Now when preparation which cured me in the condition I was in and also my neighbor, a preparation which is held in such estimation in and around East Liverpool, that an acquaintance of mine advised me through a newspaper statement to obtain it when that preparation performs exactly what it promises what can be expected of any resident of East Liverpool suffering from kidney complaint who will not take advantage of his neighbor's experience and profit by his opinions.

REALM OF SPORTSPRIMROSE TEAM READY FOR BATTLE

An Organization Has Been Effected,
Suits Bought And Challenges
By the Dozen Issued.

The East Liverpool Primrose baseball team will be ready to do battle early. They held a meeting yesterday and elected Robert Boyd manager and William Cook captain. They have signed some new players for the coming season. Among the new ones are Harry Myers, the crack shortstop of the Crocker Citys last year, and William Beatty, a fast player and a good clubber. Also Earl Headley, the crack little third baseman.

Smith and Calhoun will do the twirling this season, as both pitchers made a record for themselves last season.

The rest of the team is made up of the very best of material, including Otis Mount, catcher; Clyde Smith and Allen Calhoun, pitchers; Harry Myers, shortstop; Thomas Wyman, first base; Robert Boyd, second base and manager; Earl Headley, third base; William Cook, left field; Runt Rhue, center field, and William Beatty, right field; subs, Albert Owens and Fred Duncan.

They are ready to meet any 14 or 15-year-old teams in the city. They want to arrange games also with New Cumberland, Rochester, Pa., Salem, Lisbon, Toronto, Wellsville and Salineville; also the Primrose of Pittsburgh. They have chosen their suits for next season. They are brown, trimmed in white, with brown and white striped stockings, brown cap with white beak and white button and white belt and white collar on the shirts.

the baseball nine which secures the greatest number of subscriptions for this paper by midnight of May 14, with a complete outfit. Several rival teams are now working with might and main to win the much sought and valuable prize, but they have all made the request that their names, or rather the name of their teams, be kept from the others. Now is the time for the ball nines to organize and get in this contest. Do not put it off until warm weather comes, as it will be too late then. The other teams would have too big a start.

MINISTERS TO ACT

Wellsville Clergymen Object to Boxing
And Will Appeal to Mayor
Fogo.

The ministers of Wellsville have received information that an attempt will soon be made to put off a boxing contest within the city limits, and if all is agreeable the affair will probably take place at the opera house.

It is said that a number of young men of the city have had in view the giving of a boxing contest for some time, and that the preliminary arrangements have gone so far that Solicitor Boyd will be consulted soon regarding the legality of having a contest.

It is known that the more conservative citizens of Wellsville are opposed to any affair of the kind, while the younger element are strongly in favor of Mr. Shafroth had pursued throughout the investigation. This investigation, he said, had shown fraudulent votes, but it also had shown that Mr. Shafroth was in no way responsible for the condition and that the fraud had not been committed for his benefit, his vote being an incident to the scheme.

As the matter was a complete surprise to the committee, Mr. Olmsted said no resolution seating Mr. Bonnyng had been prepared. Mr. Olmsted presented the formal resolution unseating Mr. Shafroth and seating Mr. Bonnyng. This was agreed to without opposition.

The suspense concerning the condition of Senator Hanna had an appreciable effect on the senate and as a result the proceedings were marked by an unusual listlessness and depression. There were no speeches on any subject whatever and more attention was given bulletins announcing the condition of the senator than to matters of legislation. The entire time of the legislative session was given to routine business, the most important matter taken up being the bill providing for a gratuity to former Queen Liliokalani of Hawaii, which was lost on a tie vote.

The regular meeting of the association was to have been held yesterday, but there was none. It is likely a session will be held next Monday, when the proposed boxing tournament will be discussed.

BASEBALL AMATEURS WILL APPRECIATE THIS OFFER

The News Review, ever with a friendly feeling towards the boys, as has been demonstrated time and again, has decided once more to do something which will cause the youngsters much genuine pleasure and sport. It proposes to give to the amateur base ball nine, either in East Liverpool, Chester or Wellsville, which secures the greatest number of subscribers for the News Review by May 15, a complete outfit, consisting of nine suits made to the individual measure of each member of the winning team.

The suits will be made from gray maroon, brown or blue green flannel, with the name of the nine across the shirt front in felt letters. The shirts will be button front, with detachable sleeves, and the pants will be padded in regulation style—the same as in use in the National league; stockings, caps, belts, mask, three (A1) famous St. Louis bats and two first-class balls.

Any nine in the three above mentioned cities may enter this contest; the only requirement being that the captain is to call in person on the circulation manager of this paper and get full particulars and blanks, as well as enter the name of his team as contestants.

The contest commences Monday, February 14, and closes at midnight May 14, 1904. Hustle, boys, and see who wins this expensive prize. A subscription secured for one month counts your team one point; three months, two points; six months, three points, and one year, four points.

The letter of Miss Merkley, whose picture is printed above, proves beyond question that thousands of cases of inflammation of the ovaries and womb are annually cured by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Gradual loss of strength and nerve force told me something was radically wrong with me. I had severe shooting pains through the pelvic organs, cramps and extreme irritation compelled me to seek medical advice. The doctor said that I had ovarian trouble and ulceration, and advised an operation. I strongly objected to this and decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I soon found that my judgment was correct, and that all the good things said about this medicine were true, and day by day I felt less pain and increased appetite. The ulceration soon healed, and the other complications disappeared, and in eleven weeks I was once more strong and vigorous and perfectly well.

"My heartfelt thanks are sent to you for the great good you have done me."—Sincerely yours, Miss Margaret Merkley, 275 Third St., Milwaukee, Wis.—$5000 forfeit if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

GAVE UP HIS SEAT.

House of Representatives Experiences an Unusual Sensation.

Washington, Feb. 16.—Relinquishing his seat as a member of the house of representatives, Mr. Shafroth (Dem.) of the First district of Colorado, furnished a profound sensation. Proceeding under "personal privilege" recognition, Mr. Shafroth surrendered his seat in favor of Robert W. Bonnyng, the Republican contestant. Mr. Shafroth's statement was regarded as most extraordinary and sensational. It was received with prolonged applause on the part of both Republican and Democratic members.

Mr. Olmsted, chairman of the committee before which the case is pending, followed with a most complimentary statement as to the attitude of Mr. Shafroth had pursued throughout the investigation. This investigation, he said, had shown fraudulent votes, but it also had shown that Mr. Shafroth was in no way responsible for the condition and that the fraud had not been committed for his benefit, his vote being an incident to the scheme.

MINISTERS TO ACT

Wellsville Clergymen Object to Boxing And Will Appeal to Mayor Fogo.

The ministers of Wellsville have received information that an attempt will soon be made to pull off a boxing contest within the city limits, and if all is agreeable the affair will probably take place at the opera house.

It is said that a number of young men of the city have had in view the giving of a boxing contest for some time, and that the preliminary arrangements have gone so far that Solicitor Boyd will be consulted soon regarding the legality of having a contest.

It is known that the more conservative citizens of Wellsville are opposed to any affair of the kind, while the younger element are strongly in favor of such a sporting event. However, it is proposed to do everything within the limits of the law. Hence, the advice of Solicitor Boyd will be sought.

Ministers claim that inasmuch as they have received information that such an affair is being planned it will probably be discussed at the next meeting of the ministerial association, and that Mayor Fogo will be asked to use his good offices to prevent any affair of the kind.

The regular meeting of the association was to have been held yesterday, but there was none. It is likely a session will be held next Monday, when the proposed boxing tournament will be discussed.

GENERAL SORROW CAUSED BY THE DEATH OF HANNA

$500 REWARD FOR WOMEN WHO CANNOT BE CURED.

The last sinking spell began at 6:30 p.m. Drs. Carter and Osler were sick. They did not conceal attendance. The fact that life was about to ebb and members of the family were sent to Mrs. McCormick, one of the senators' daughters, and Mrs. Phelps, were present when this was done. Mrs. Dan Hanna were the first to arrive and they withdrew immediately to the chamber of the senator's wife to summon her to the bedchamber. It was while they were absent that Senator breathed his last. In the meantime Mr. McCormick, Mr. and Mrs. Parsons, and H. M. Hanna had entered the room. Mr. Dover stood at the door. There were no distressing incidents attending the last moments. It was a sinking spell which terminated in death. Just after eyes closed in death, Mrs. Hanna was able to come into the room. She lay well under the terrible ordeal showing calmness and bravery.

Kep Alive by Stimulants.
For the last two days Senator Hanna had not been conscious except at intervals and then only to obey mechanically some instructions given him by the physicians. Fourteen hours before the end was announced he had practically suspended, the sinking spark being kept aglow by most powerful scientific agencies. Five minutes before death came, General Dick came from the bedside with the announcement, "He is worse and only a few minutes at the most." A statement immediately prefaced last official bulletin which was:

Senator Hanna sank gradually during the afternoon and died quietly at 6:40 o'clock."

Mr. Dover, the senator's secretary, read the bulletin to the newspaper men who were waiting. Word went the hotel like a flash. The lobby was crowded and a score of friends were waiting in Mr. Dover's room. Though it was known five minutes before that the next word probably would be the announcement that the senator had breathed his last, the effect upon his friends was almost that of a sudden shock. No attempts were made to restrain grief. Senators Fairbanks, Scott and Kittredge broke down. They stayed at the hotel the entire day and knew there was no hope, but that proved no guard against the tears which sprang suddenly to their eyes and ran down their cheeks.

Grief Among Watchers.

Spontaneous outbursts of unstinted tribute were heard on every side. Men who are acknowledged leaders of their political parties, kings of finance and commerce, and men selected to serve in the highest positions in the nation were among those who expressed the country's immeasurable loss.

Friends at once took charge of the funeral arrangements. Services will be held in the senate chamber at noon Wednesday, at which the president, cabinet, congress, public officials and friends will be present. For a brief period in the forenoon the remains will lie in state in the marble room. After these services, special trains over the Pennsylvania railroad will carry the remains, the family and friends to Cleveland, where services will be held either at the home of the senator or of his son, Dan Hanna. It is likely that Bishop Leonard of the northern diocese of Ohio of the Episcopal church, and formerly rector of St. John's church in this city, will conduct the services.

Marcus Alonzo Hanna was born at Linton, county seat of Columbiana county, Ohio, Sept. 24, 1837. He was son of Leonard and Samantha Hanna and descended from Quaker emigrants to Virginia and from Scotch Presbyterian settlers in Vermont. His father was a physician, and later a merchant of Cleveland, O., whence the family removed in 1832. Senator Hanna was educated in the public schools of Cleveland and at the age of 20 he entered the employ of Hanna, Garretson & Co., where his father was senior partner. Upon the death of the latter, in 1861, he assumed control of his father's interests. This firm dissolved in 1867, and he associated himself with the firm of Rhodes & Co., successors to Rhodes, Card & Co., the pioneer coal and iron firm of Cleveland. He retained this connection until 1877, when he became senior partner. The firm name changed to M. A. Hanna & Co. In 1872 Mr. Hanna organized and equipped the Cleveland Transportation company, one of the largest transportation companies on the great lakes. Following the organization of the Union National Bank of Cleveland he was elected to its presidency in March, 1884. Mr. Hanna was delegate at large from the state of Ohio to the Democratic national convention of 1884 and 1888, and in 1888 was a district delegate.

"The secret of his success was a strong intellectual endowment, a keen perception and a courageous nature combined with a pleasing personality and a plain, direct, straightforward manner that commanded respect and excited confidence."

Governor Herrick of Ohio said:

"Whatever I have accomplished in political life I owe to the unwearied friendship of President McKinley and Senator Hanna. He was true to his friends as all times, and that will be his greatest epitaph."

Was Long for Sherman.

A warm friend of Senator John Sherman, Mr. Hanna was energetic in advocating the Ohio chamber's nomination for the presidency in 1880, 1884 and 1888; and always felt that Sherman's eminent services to the country in securing the resumption of specie payment and the final establishment of the nation's credit and honor should not be ungratefully recognized.

Secretary Hitchcock said: "The nation has lost a patriot and his personal friends and associates a lovable companion whose sterling qualities of head and heart found their most congenial expression in promoting the progress and prosperity of his countrymen."

True and Devoted Friend.

Postmaster General Payne said: "In all phases of life I have never known a truer, a more devoted friend and his death strikes home nearer to me than I can express."

Secretary Taft said of Senator Hanna: "He was a marvel in American politics. He had a remarkable grasp of public questions of the day and a simple, lucid and most forcible way of stating issues and supporting his conclusions. If his interests in public matters and his energy had not been so great I believe he would have lived ten years longer, but he would not allow consideration of life to restrict his energy and to prevent him accomplishing the good he had in mind."

Secretary of the Treasury Shaw was deeply affected when news of Senator Hanna's death was brought to him. He said: "Senator Hanna was one of the noblest characters I ever knew of 1860. His men resisted every effort to turn them out, claiming that they had no grievances for which to strike, and in the coal miners strike 1860-7, the Hanna properties were the only mines at which there was no disturbance.

Always a Friend of Labor.

Mr. Hanna was always a friend of labor, during a prostration in the iron industries when all the ore mines in the Michigan region were shut down and the miners families were in distress. Hanna was kept running, and over 150,000 tons of ore piled up on the docks, in order to give employment to the men and support of their families. At one time a superintendent was about to introduce two large steam hoists and struck a loading vessel, but as soon as Mr. Hanna heard of the matter he ordered the machines away, saying that the men were brought there to do the work and their families needed the wages. Although continually objecting to the abuses of the position, when asked to answer some of the charges, Mr. Hanna invariably replied: "They are not true. They can't hurt me. I am not a candidate." Speaking of Mr. Hanna, Senator Cannon, chairman of the Democratic national committee, credited with having said: "For Senator Hanna, personally, I have the highest regard, but as a Democrat I am bound to adjure him as a scoundrel." Having called it a successful issue, the cause of 1860. Mr. Hanna was appointed by Gov. Bushnell of Ohio, March 2, 1867, United States senator to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of John Sherman, and to this seat he was re-elected, in 1868, for the term expiring in 1875. He was director in the Globe Ship Manufacturing company, president of a Cleveland City Railways company and the Chapin Mining company, and was, by appointment of President Cleveland in 1885, a director of the Union Pacific Railroad.

In January, the Ohio legislature re-elected Mr. Hanna United States senator for the term expiring in 1911.

In his domestic life Mr. Hanna was exceedingly happy. On September 27, 1864, he married Miss S. Auguste Rhinelander, a daughter of Daniel P. and Sophia Rhinelander of Cleveland. Mr. Hanna and three children, Dan R. Hanna and Mrs. H. C. Parsons of Cleveland, and Mrs. Medill McCormick of Chicago survive. During later years Mr. Hanna engaged in extensive charitable work on account of his efforts to establish amicable relations between labor and capital and the idea of organizing the great National Civic Federation was largely due to him. His efforts in this direction have been highly appreciated by the workingmen in the community and to show their appreciation they presented him with a statue in marble representing "Pence." This statue, which stands in his library in Lake avenue in Cleveland, the senator is said to have appreciated more than anything else in his possession.

Tributes to Deceased Statesman.

There were universal expressions of regret last night among public men at the death of Senator Hanna, all of them without distinction of party, saying the country had lost one of its most forceful and useful citizens.

To Secretary Hay the death of Senator Hanna came as a great loss. Senator Hanna, said Mr. Hay, for many years had been a very intimate and valued friend and during a great part of that time they had been closely associated in public matters. No one who knew Senator Hanna, said Mr. Hay, could fail to recognize in him those remarkable qualities of mind and heart that distinguished him. He was a man in a thousand for generosity, honesty and loyalty. He was one of the truest friends that ever lived. Mr. Hay said one of the most surprising things about Senator Hanna's career was the contrast between the man's true character and the cloud of calumny and vituperation that was made to surround him by political opponents.

Things that were attributed to him by thoughtless adversaries were precisely the things of which he was absolutely incapable. Senator Hanna was the soul of honor, candor and open, fair dealing, said Mr. Hay. So far from being, as some liked to consider him, a creator of trusts and organized wealth, he was one of the most powerful and devoted champions of the laboring people this country has ever known. He believes in his party. He was devoted to his friends and we will find, said the secretary, now that he has gone some of the truest mourners in the ranks of the opposition, as among them in his life he counted some of his most devoted friends.

Senator Foraker said: "The death of Senator Hanna removes from public life one of our strongest and most capable leaders. His political successes have been most extraordinary. He was not a scholarly man and yet commanded the respect of the most learned. He was not in the ordinary sense, a student of state affairs and yet he comprehended, as by intuition, every troublesome problem that arose and efficiently aided in its solution.

"The secret of his success was a strong intellectual endowment, a keen perception and a courageous nature combined with a pleasing personality and a plain, direct, straightforward manner that commanded respect and excited confidence."

Cleveland, Feb. 16.—Concerning the death of Senator Hanna, Mayor Tom L. Johnson said: "Senator Hanna was the great representative of the political views of his party. He was an earnest, honest and in his convictions I sympathize deeply with his bereavement and his party in their loss."

Cincinnati, Feb. 16.—George B. Cox, the Republican leader of Hamilton county, said: "His country and his party have suffered an incalculable loss. He was a grand man. His unselfishness was the characteristic

After these services, special trains over the Pennsylvania railroad will carry the remains, the family and friends to Cleveland, where services will be held either at the home of the senator or of his son, Dan Hanna.

It is likely that Bishop Leonard of the northern diocese of Ohio of the Episcopal church and formerly rector of St. John's church in this city, will conduct the services.

Marcus Alonso Hanna was born at Ligonier, county seat of Columbiana county, Ohio, Sept. 24, 1837. He was a son of Leonard and Samantha Hanna and descended from Quaker emigrants to Virginia and from Scotch Presbyterian settlers in Vermont.

His father was a physician, and later a merchant of Cleveland, O., whither the family removed in 1852. Senator Hanna was educated in the public schools of Cleveland and at the age of 20 entered the employ of Hanna, Garretson & Co., where his father was a partner.

Upon the death of the latter, in 1851, he assumed control of his father's interests.

This firm dissolved in 1857, and he associated himself with the firm of Rhodes & Co., successors to Rhodes, Card & Co., the pioneer coal and iron firm of Cleveland.

He retained this connection until 1877, when he became senior partner.

The Happiest Home Is Your Own Home

It is impossible to feel perfectly at home in the house of another. The only perfect "home feeling" comes to those who own the place where they live.

We'll help to give you the real home feeling. The plan is simple. The cost reasonable. We'll arrange it to your liking. You needn't put much in at a time, but just a convenient bit each day will surprise and delight you with its increasing capacity.

Why pay rent when you can't afford it? No man can afford to pay rent, but every man can afford to apply his rent money on the purchase of a home.

Real estate is looking up. It's well to heed the signs of the times and buy now. A wise investment will yield a nice profit if prices continue to advance, or would be a safe place for your savings even if prices should stay where they are.

WAGON SLIPPED

OVER THE HILL

And the Damage Was Extensive. Many Bushels of Wheat Being Lost And Horse Injured.

Sixty bushels of wheat were scattered over Cunningham run yesterday afternoon and only a portion of the grain was recovered, owing to the fact that it was distributed over a large amount of territory. The grain was dumped out of the wagon of John Brothers when the wagon containing the same slid over the hill coming into Chester.

Brothers has been residing on the Elmer Mercer farm and yesterday afternoon started for East Liverpool with the grain. As he was driving down the hill road along Cunningham run the wagon began sliding and the driver realizing that the outfit would go over the hill leaped to a point of safety. He was just in time, as the wagon dropped a considerable distance and the sacks containing the 60 bushels of grain were broken open and the wheat was scattered in all directions.

The horses were taken over the bank by the weight of the outfit and it is only considered a miracle that they escaped death, as the point where they dropped was so steep that it required the aid of a block and tackle to bring them and the wagon back to the road again. As it was both of the horses were badly injured, although on a very careful examination it was not thought that they would be permanently injured.

A number of those who had witnessed the accident went to the assistance of the driver of the team and it required several hours for the outfit to be righted and started on its way to the mill, where it arrived short several bushels of grain in regard to that which was started with.

GOD'S WISDOM.

By Mrs. Mendel Wasbuskey.

The night is cold and wintry,
The earth is wrapped in snow;
On the hearth lie the dying embers,
While the shadows fit to and fro.

Without the wind is moaning,
And stirring the silent leaves;
Bewailing the fate of the roses,
And praying for winter to cease.

I go to my basement window
And look on the heavens above;

Forgotten in the gloom and the winter,
The world is now full of life.

For there in dazzling splendor.

In God's wonderful garden of light,
Are blossoming the heavenly flowers,
The dear little stars so bright.

On one side, the gloom and the somber,
On the other, the heavens and love;

While before and between and hereafter,

Is the wisdom of our Father above.

PETITIONS FOR LOCAL OPTION

Columbiana County Legislators Urged to Work for the Brannock Bill.

THIS CITY IS HEARD FROM

The Best People of East Liverpool Are Reported Not Opposed to Ward Local Option—What W. L. Thompson Said to Senator Connell.

Columbus, February 16.—(Special.)

During the past few days the members of the Columbiana county legislative delegation have received many communications from their constituents requesting the passage of the Brannock ward option bill. A week ago announcement was made in this correspondence of the apparent indifference of the citizens of the county regarding this measure, no expression of their sentiments having been received up to that time by the legislators, and the deluge of mail dealing with this subject now being received by the members is undoubtedly the result of this announcement.

These communications are appreciated by the members, as they indicate the wishes of their constituents and serve as a guide for their actions. The requests for the passage of the ward option bill come from all over the county. Over a score are from East Liverpool, many of them being from business men. Rev. Dr. J. C. Taggart and Rev. D. W. McQuiston sent petitions. W. L. Thompson, the well known musical composer and music dealer of that city, wrote Senator Connell a personal letter in which he stated he had talked with a great many of the best people of the city and had not found one opposed to ward local option, and he ventured the opinion that not even the saloon keepers themselves would offer serious objections to the bill.

"No fair-minded man would censure you for giving the people of certain wards the opportunity of voting for or against the saloon in their part of the city," Mr. Thompson wrote. The opponents of the Brannock ward option bill will have their innings Tuesday night when they will be given a hearing by the house temperance committee, which has charge of the bill.

Will Give Reception.

The bible class at the First Methodist church is preparing to give a reception in the lecture room of the church to Rev. Dr. Pratt and a number of the friends of the members. The affair will be in the nature of a Washington's birthday party, although it will be several days later than the 22d. The invitations will be issued shortly.

Measuring Brides.

Measuring brides for legacies is the remarkable ceremony which annually takes place in St. Cyrus, a quaint little village in Kincardineshire, Scotland, on the brink of the German ocean.

More than fifty years ago a native of the village, who had been paymaster general of the Indian army, bequeathed a sum of money, the interest of which was, for all time coming, to be disbursed in five equal parts every year. One part was for the purchase of meal for the poor, while the remainder was set aside to be divided among each year's four conspicuous brides—the oldest, the youngest, the tallest and the shortest—who were married in St. Cyrus parish church.

The administration of the fund is in the hands of the parish minister, and unhappy at times is his task, such are the jealousies which arise among the competitors, for there is keen rivalry for these legacies, which amount to hardly more than $30 each. But that is quite an important sum in so remote and simple a village. All St. Cyrus turns out on "bride measuring day," and the occasion is made a holiday.

The Blooming Thorn Tree.

There is a legend to the effect that the thorn blooms on Christmas day. It is said that St. Joseph of Arimathea landed near Glastonbury and stuck his staff in the ground. It took root, grew and blossomed every Christmas day thereafter. The tree was hewn down by a Puritan of the time of Cromwell, but in doing this he cut his leg, and chips flying from his ax blinded him. The trunk, though separated from the root, grew and flourished, and for many years slips and blooms from the tree of St. Joseph were sold by the merchants of Bristol.

The Blooming Thorn Tree.

There is a legend to the effect that the thorn blooms on Christmas day. It is said that St. Joseph of Arimathea landed near Glastonbury and stuck his staff in the ground. It took root, grew and blossomed every Christmas day thereafter. The tree was hewn down by a Puritan of the time of Cromwell, but in doing this deed he cut his leg, and chips flying from his ax blinded him. The trunk, though separated from the root, grew and flourished, and for many years slips and blossoms from the tree of St. Joseph were sold by the merchants of Bristol.

Breaking It Gently.
His Cousin—We sent off the dispatch to stop your model coming. But you had put one word too many, so we struck it out.

Real Artist—Oh, indeed! What word did you strike out?

His Cousin—You had written, "He is not to come, as I have only just discovered I cannot paint today." So we crossed out "today."—Punch.

Brought Trouble.

White—What is the matter with Plunger's head?

Green—Yesterday was his wooden wedding, and he gave his wife a rolling pin for a present, and when he returned from celebrating the event she returned to the occasion with a speech suitable to the occasion.—Butte Inter-Mountain

SOCIAL EVENTS

The Atens Entertain. Mr. and Mrs. John M. Aten last evening entertained a number of friends in honor of Rev. Dr. William Gaston, of Cleveland, and G. G. Gaston, of Steubenville, who are brothers of Mrs. Aten. A delightful evening was spent by a party of about 30. There was no formal program, but there was excellent music and choice refreshments.
